Kurzbeschreibung: Imagine stepping into a museum where you don't merely observe history; instead, you can interact and engage with it through an immersive digital experience. Welcome to the new age of museum exploration, where we are transforming the experience by seamlessly blending the past and present using modern technologies. The goal of the project is to bring historic costumes to life using artificial intelligence and XR technologies. This experience goes beyond mere observation; it's about actively wearing history and forging connections with the narratives woven into the fabric.
